The online survey

The 2023 OxWell Student Survey is a large-scale online survey designed to measure the wellbeing of children and young people aged 9–18 years old. Led by researchers at the University of Oxford, the survey has run since 2019 and in 2021 more than 30,000 students from 180 schools participated.

What's involved?

- Schools sign up online
- OxWell emails schools a participation agreement to sign and return
- A letter to send to parents for opt-out
- Presentation about the survey for children and young people
- Survey URL and log-in details
- Clear instructions for children and young people

You start planning how you will deliver the survey in your school:

- Meet with the staff (often pastoral) that will drive the survey forward
- Make sure that all staff understand the survey's purpose
- Use assemblies, posters and emails to promote the survey with students

In 2023, the survey is open from 21st February to 21st March

Why take part?

- Access your data online via a digital platform:
  - Generate automatic reports (e.g. for Ofsted)
  - Use the data to answer specific questions and identify areas where pupils most need support
- Receive tailored summary reports
- Receive additional training on how best to use your data.
